Event title	Hackathon “Kosovska Mitrovica 2030”
Event description:	On April 4th 2026, the hackathon “Kosovska Mitrovica 2030” was successfully held on the Faculty of technical sciences in Kosovska Mitrovica, organized by Gymnasium Kosovska Mitrovica, Faculty of Technical Sciences Kosovska Mitrovica, and Faculty of Natural Sciences and Mathematics Kosovska Mitrovica. On the first day, the event officially opened with addresses from the organizers and members of the expert jury, who highlighted the importance of such initiatives and introduced the first hackathon of this kind in Kosovska Mitrovica. This was followed by team presentations, where participants introduced their initial ideas and concepts. The second day was dedicated to final presentations, during which teams showcased their developed solutions, followed by the announcement of the winners and the closing ceremony. As part of the event, the Erasmus+ project SPHERE was also promoted. The project aims to modernize higher education programs in the field of transport and traffic engineering in the Western Balkans by introducing innovative knowledge, technologies, and EU best practices related to sustainable transport. Both high school pupils and university students were introduced to the SPHERE project, gaining insight into its goals, activities, and the opportunities it offers. They learned more about possibilities for academic development, international cooperation, and active participation in initiatives that connect universities with the wider community.
